The most serious result of economic conditions since the war forced the board to close No. 1 school and make arrangements to transport the pupils to No. 2. The resignation of Miss Kendall in August found the situation so critical, as far as availability of teachers was concerned, that the closing of the school was inevitable. This was fortunately the only change in the regular teaching staff. The district retained the services of Mrs. Jones, Miss Valeska, Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. Guinesso, Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Scott. To retain the services of trained experienced teachers in the present situation is good fortune for the pupils and the district. The pupils profit most when they are under the guidance of the same teacher over a span of several years. This has been the experience of the majority of your children. For them the necessity of readjusting to a new teacher is an experience we as adults can not appreciate. That they in general have not had this experience is novel in these times.

It is right and proper that we should pause and pay tribute to the teachers of the district for their loyal and conscientious tious service. The absence except in one or two exceptional circumstances have been few and far between. In these days of difficult transportation the teachers have succeeded in being on the job most of the time. They have allowed themselves little time out for sickness so that the difficult problem of securing substitutes has been almost non existent. This too is a definite advantage to your children.

The solution of the above situation was not ideal but it was practical. It was not ideal for the building at No. 2 was not designed to house the number of pupils we had there. The sanitation was inadequate and there was some crowding especially in the grammar room. Through the cooperation of the teachers this was alleviated somewhat and the program has gone along satisfactorily.

The usual program of cleaning and repairs was followed out during the summer. The buildings in general are in good physical condition. They can be maintained for a time with a minimum outlay.

The problem of transportation is now being handled quite satisfactorily. Vehicles sufficiently large to accommodate the number of pupils transported are now in use. The solution of this problem, as satisfactorily as it has been solved, is a source of satisfaction because the element of worry about the accommodations for the children has largely been removed.

Books and supplies have been purchased in accord with the practice of past years. The adoption of a modern arithmetic text is nearly completed. Book purchases are somewhat of a problem at present. Quotas still apply in the publishing trade so that back orders are piled up and continue to pile up. This results in slower deliveries and greater hesitancy in placing orders to meet immediate needs. For example science books ordered last July were delivered late in January. If a critical need exists the process of meeting the need is conditioned by the question "Can the book we want be shipped in time to solve the problem?" Not only the books themselves but the materials of a printed nature used in conjunction with them are delayed in delivery. This shortage of paper delayed normal progress in reading in a few isolated instances.

General supplies were ordered sufficiently early and in large enough quantity so that at all times no delays were experienced here. As yet the problem in this field has not been as critical as in the publishing field where higher grades of paper are required. The general indications are that there may and probably will be a general price advance. In view of this fact orders are being placed at current prices for July billing and delivery to protect the district.

Budget

The gross budget shows an increase of $1,177.66. Three items are responsible for the major portion of this advance. Transportation, high school tuition, and retirement are the three items.

The increased cost of transportation is self evident. The closing of No. 1 school with the resulting transportation problem is responsible.

A knowledge of the increased cost of high school instruction explains quickly and easily the increased cost of high school tuition. During the last five years the average instruction cost in New Hampshire high schools has mounted. The district's legal liability is this average cost. A glance at the figures of the past five years makes evident the need for an increased estimate.

1940-41	$80.99
41-42	89.79
42-43	100.78
43-44	107.46
44-45	114.59

With this trend in view the estimate for 46-47 was based on $120. The number estimated as prospective high school enrollees warrants the total estimate.

The third item, teacher retirement, is now a statutory requirement. As a result of the action of the last session of the General Court the town school districts, the state and the teacher all contribute to the funds of the state Teacher Retirement system. The annual payroll of member teachers in the district is used as a base. A percentage (which may vary from 2 - 6%) of this annual payroll is assessed against the district. The percentage rate is set by the State Teachers' Retirement board and will be determined by the financial status of the fund.

Other slight increases account for the remaining $91.66 in the over-all increase.

Increased state aid increases anticipated revenue by $628.41 so that the tax levy shows an increase of $549.25. In this period of generally increased prices such an increase is not astonishing.

In accord with the vote of the district taken at the meeting of March, 1945, the special committee appointed have disposed of No. 3, No. 6, and No. 9 school houses. The chairman of this special committee can furnish a detailed report of the committee's activities.

The special articles in the warrant are a result of the closing of No. 1 school. The situation created by this action brought out quite forcibly the necessity of investigating the housing situation and possible solutions. A study of the situation on a state wide basis revealed that without question the twenty-five year period since 1920 had seen the elimination of many isolated rural schools. The number had declined from 803 to 239. In light of this fact and other considerations in connection with personnel and the whole general picture it was believed that the district should be given the opportunity to give expression to its opinion on this question by presenting appropriate articles for consideration.

Conclusion

The general efficiency of your schools has been maintained at a high level. Test results are in confirmation of this statement. That they are so operating is a high tribute to the fine cooperation of all groups concerned with the well being of the schools and the welfare of the pupils. Parents, school board, teachers, pupils and, last but not least, the citizens of the district have cooperated whole heartedly to make the schools operate well. This cooperation has made it a privilege for me to try to maintain the educational opportunity for your children at a high level.

The future of the elementary education is in a period of transition. The trend of the past few years in which the school as an institution of society has assumed, not always voluntarily, additional responsibilities in connection with the education of children will undoubtedly continue. At present there is and will continue to be pressure to extend physical education. New Hampshire has lagged in this particular field but the statistics of the medical examination of American youth of draft age has forcibly demonstrated the need of a modern program. A program properly conceived and planned and administered by trained individuals will aim at the recognition and correction of remedial physical defects. Such a program will have as its primary objective the development of all children so that they may arrive at maturity with highest possible degree of physical efficiency.

Respectfully submitted,

EVERTON H. PARKINSON,
Superintendent of Schools.
